Questionnaire by Ship Board Asks for Great Volume of Information on Past Trips

Steamship owners yesterday welcomed the withdrawal of the Shipping Board Kerr Line service to Hamburg and Bremen as the beginning of the end of government competition with private vessels. While the board has Mail abandoned services on previous occasions, there was an inclination yesterday to attach greater importance to nouncement that the step was made because the route was already overtonnaged with private ships.

Similar moves are expected in other trade routes, especially in the inter-coastal and Colombian services, as soom as the board considers that the could be learned yesterday, but was speculation whether the board now will take up the offer of the Luckenbach Line to put its vessels on the New Tork-Rotterdam service on the concition that government ships be with-

Clyde May Buy Ships

As intimated recently, conditions in the Colombian trade are rapidly approaching a point where the difficulties Fruit Company will be eliminated. It is understood that the Clyde Line may purchase the government ships and that this will be followed by a restoration of the conference, though no official information on this point can be obtained.

The intercoastal situation has been complicated by the questionnaire sent out by the Shipping Board to private lines in this trade. An official of one company said yesterday that this asks for detailed information on ships, tonwage, loading and discharging ports for the last two years, and that "three months will be required to complete the data." It was his opinion that the beard is seeking a delay in rendering a decision on the request of the American Steamship Owners' Association for withdrawal of the government vessels. A copy of the questionnaire could not be secured.

Clegg and Beck Satisfied

A. E. Clegg, vice-president of the Kerr Line, and Christian J. Beck, traffic manager for the United American Lines, said that they were entirely satisfied with the new deal. The United American had five government ships in the service. It was said that the company does not contemplate putting its own vessels on the route, as all of its tonnage is occupied at present.

Announcement of the consolidation of the Dutch East Indies and Indian services under the Kerr Line was not explicit on the nature of the arrangement. Mr. Clegg said that the company will have six or seven steamers in the trade, maintaining a monthly schedule of sailings through the Suez Cansal.
